

Book report "Float"

Your book report this month will be a parade "float" illustrating a scene from your book. Take a shoe box with a lid and flip it over so that the bottom is on the top. Decorate the sides of the box and write the title somewhere on the side. Then, using any materials you wish, illustrate a scene from your book on the top. Remember that the parade float is able to be seen from all sides. Your float must be three-dimensional. You may not use Legos, toys, or any man-made dolls, animals, or other store-bought items. In other words, it must be "child made". You may use clay, popsicle sticks, magazine pictures, or other things. If you are not sure about something, just ask me ahead of time!
